

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An optoelectronic component with an epitaxial semiconductor layer sequence having an active zone that emits electromagnetic radiation, and at least one electrical contact region having at least one radiation-transmissive electrical contact layer, which contains ZnO and is electrically conductively connected to an outer semiconductor layer. The contact layer is provided with watertight material in such a way that it is substantially protected against moisture.